Ten sizes of this celebrated and unrivalled Furnace, for warming Dwellings, Public Buildings, &c., in the most thorough and economical manner. The principal upon which this Furnace is constructed, together with the testimony from the many thousands in use, will, on examination, convince any intelligent mind that for Economy in Fuel, Durability, and Great Heating Power, it has no equal in the world. PORTABLES are now made on this plan, and need only to be seen to be appreciated. CHILSON'S RANGES, Stoves, Registers and Ventilators as usual.

CHILSON'S PATENT DOUBLE OVEN COOKING RANGE.

The great improvements secured by five claims Patented in this truly superior RANGE, over any other Range known, makes it the most perfect Kitchen Range in the WORLD. Its extensive use proves it to be the universal favorite of the kitchen. Housekeepers will appreciate it on examination.

Sizes in variety, with or without Water Backs. Hot Closets, and Hot Air Fixtures, when wanted.

PREFACE.

FOUR years having elapsed since the publication of a Lowell Directory, no apology is needed for presenting a new one to the public. Every effort has been made to render this work correct, and it is believed that it is as perfect as can be, when it is considered that a portion of the population of Lowell is constantly shifting; but where a person is once located, he can usually be traced for a year, if he remains in the city.

It has been customary heretofore to specially designate the residents of Centralville, but it is not done in this Directory, except in cases where persons reside on a street which has its name repeated elsewhere in the city. The fire at Ayer's City, after the canvass of the city was completed, disarranged a few whose business or residence was in that locality, and corrections were made in several instances, but to have corrected all would have required a re-canvass of a large portion of the city. The "Hundred Days' Men" are located in the Directory where found when the canvass was made.

Whether a new Directory was needed may be judged by the following figures: Number of names in last Directory, about 9950; in this one, 8505, of which only 1657 remain as they did four years ago; 3378 have changed in some respect, and 3470 are new names. Of the 9950 names in the last Directory, only 5035—a trifle over one-half—appear in this work. In 1860, Lowell contained 36,827 inhabitants. If the proportion be the same now to the number of names in the Directory, the population of the city would be about 32,500.

In the Military Record, 4639 names appear, which added to those in the General Directory make 13,144, though the same names frequently appear in each.

The publisher tenders his thanks to the City Council of Lowell, subscribers and advertisers, for what they have done to assist him in the publication; also to all who have given him information or assisted him in any way.

RAILROADS.

[All the Roads leading out of Lowell are managed by the Boston and Lowell and Nashua and Lowell Railroad.]

BOSTON & LOWELL AND NASHUA & LOWELL RAILROAD. The Boston and Lowell Railroad was incorporated June, 1830, and opened for travel June, 1835. Length, 26 miles. Depot in Lowell, Merrimack, corner Dutton Street; in Boston, Causeway, corner Andover Street.

The Nashua and Lowell Railroad was incorporated June 23, 1835, and opened for travel October 8, 1838. Length, 14 miles. Depot in Lowell, Middlesex, near Thorndike Street. A branch extends from Nashua to Wilton, N. H., 15 miles in length. The Nashua and Lowell Railroad connects with the Northern Railroad in New Hampshire. Officers of both roads: George Stark, Manager. John B. Winslow, Superintendent, at Depot in Boston. Abiel Rolfe, Freight and Passenger Agent, at Freight Depot, Lowell.

STONY BROOK RAILROAD. Incorporated, 1845. Opened for travel, July 1, 1848. Length, 17 miles, from Lowell to Groton Junction, where it connects with the Worcester and Nashua and Fitchburg Railroads. Depot in Lowell, Middlesex, near Thorndike Street. Tappan Wentworth, President. S. W. Stickney, Treasurer and Clerk, at Railroad Bank. F. H. Nourse, Local Superintendent, at Northern Depot.

LOWELL AND LAWRENCE RAILROAD. Incorporated, March 27, 1846. Opened for travel, July, 1848. Length, 13 miles. This road connects with the Boston and Maine Railroad, at Lawrence, for the East. Trains leave both of the depots in Lowell. Sidney Spalding, President. F. H. Nourse, Local Superintendent, Treasurer and Clerk, at Northern Depot, Lowell.

SALEM AND LOWELL RAILROAD. Incorporated, 1848. Opened for travel, August 1, 1850. Length, 24 miles. This road connects with the Boston and Maine, Essex, South Reading Branch and Eastern Railroads. Trains leave both depots in Lowell. Charles F. Flint, North Reading, President. F. H. Nourse, Local Superintendent, Treasurer and Clerk, at Northern Depot, Lowell.

[It would not be of any object to give the rates of fare or time of leaving on either of the foregoing roads, as both are liable to be changed, and the running time is published in the Lowell papers.]

LOWELL HORSE RAILROAD—See page 229.

TO SOLDIERS AND THEIR FRIENDS.

It is the design of the subscriber to publish, should he receive sufficient encouragement, when the suitable time arrives, a History of the Action of Lowell during the Rebellion, and a brief sketch of each of her citizens who have been especially prominent in the Army or Navy, so far as facts can be collected respecting them, and the names of all who went from Lowell or were at any period long residents in the city. Persons who have been in either branch of service, or the friends of those who are deceased, would confer a favor and aid in rendering the work correct by transmitting to the undersigned such facts as in their opinion may be important to appear in such a work. The facts most desired are the name, names of parents, age, occupation, birth-place, and social condition, whether married or single at the time of enlistment. The rank, if above private, promotions, and date of same, battles engaged in, if wounded or taken prisoner, time of enlistment and muster in, and re-enlistments, if any. The friends of deceased persons can communicate the same facts, with time and manner of death, &c. All such communications addressed to the subscriber, through the Lowell postoffice, or left at the Courier office, No. 21 Central Street, will be carefully preserved, and given the importance which they deserve when the time comes for using them.

SAMUEL A. McPHETRES.

APPENDIX.

Lowell Military Record.

ALTHOUGH not coming exactly within the province of a Directory, the compiler has thought it not improper to add to this work, a list of the names of the citizens and others who have enlisted in the military or naval service of the United States since the commencement of the existing rebellion, from or for Lowell. A full list of the names given on the following pages have never been published before, and it is believed that they will interest all who become possessed of this work. In this way, also, many who claim to be, and are considered as citizens of Lowell, but yet have no family or fixed habitation here, and therefore by reason of their absence from the city when the canvassers performed their work do not appear in the general directory, will have their names appear within these pages.

Before giving the list, it is not out of place to state a few of the facts which have tended to make it so large. Late in the winter of 1860-61, soon after several of the States now in revolt had passed their so-called acts of secession, but before the commencement of active hostilities, some, if not all of the military companies of Lowell voted to tender their services to the General Government, in case they should be needed. On the 15th of April, 1861, immediately after the attack upon Fort Sumter, President Lincoln issued his call for 75,000 three months' men, and the Sixth Regiment promptly responded to the call, the members of the Lowell companies (A, C, D and H) belonging to the Regiment redeeming their pledge made a few weeks before. The Regiment left April 16th for Boston, and on the 19th passed through the city of Baltimore, where fell, in the terrible encounter with the secession mob of that place, the first martyrs of this national struggle—LUTHER C. LADD and ADDISON O. WHITNEY—both citizens of Lowell.*

Immediately after the departure of the Sixth, and the attack made upon it, other military companies were organized, and in response to other calls entered the service of the General Government for three years. Company A of the Second Regiment, Companies D and G and part of Company I of the Sixteenth Regiment, and the Richardson Light Infantry (now known as the Seventh Battery), were organized in April, 1861, and soon after were sent to the field, while many Lowell men enlisted in other regiments or companies, or in the navy. Soon after the return of the Sixth Regiment from its three months' campaign, the Twenty-Sixth and Thirtieth Regiments were raised here. Companies A, D and H, of the Twenty-Sixth, and B, C and F, and a large portion of Company H, of the Thirtieth, being Lowell citizens, and others enlisted in other companies of both regiments. Early in the winter both regiments were sent to Ship Island, Gulf of Mexico, and afterward aided in the capture and occupation of New Orleans.

Lowell was considered as a good field for recruiting, and there were at times eight or ten recruiting offices open at once, by citizens and non-residents, and nearly all meeting with success, Lowell men became scattered through different military organizations from Massachusetts, while others enlisted in the regular army or in regiments from other States.

July 1st, 1862, a call was made for 300,000 men, of which Lowell had to furnish 397. Three companies, A, F and G,

* A monument is to be erected in the square between Merrimac, Moody and Worthen Streets, by the joint action of the State of Massachusetts and City of Lowell, to the memory of the first martyrs, and when another Directory appears will probably be noticed as among the interesting attractions of the city.

and a portion of Company H, were raised here for the Thirty-Third Regiment, and nearly enough for a full company in the Forty-first Regiment, now known as the Third Cavalry Regiment. Another call was issued August 4th, 1862, for 300,000 nine months' men, and the Sixth Regiment, a second time responding, was recruited for that term of service, five of the companies, A, C, D, G and H, being mostly composed of Lowell citizens. Nearly a whole company for the same term was raised for the Forty-Eighth Regiment, while a few Lowell men were scattered through other nine months' regiments. In the winter of 1862-3, the Fifteenth Battery was raised, mostly officered and partially composed of Lowell men. In the summer of 1863, 300,000 more men were called for, to be raised by draft, and on the 15th of July, 479 names of Lowell citizens were drawn from the wheel at Concord, but less than thirty of the number entered the service thus involuntarily. On the 17th of October, a call was made for 300,000 more men, with the privilege of volunteering, and in a few weeks Lowell again filled her quota, amounting this time to 288 men, apportioned to the different wards, most of the men entering regiments or companies already in service, though quite a number joined the Fifty-Ninth Infantry and Second Heavy Artillery Regiments. February 1st, 1864, a call for 200,000 men found Lowell's quota full, with a surplus of thirteen. Late in June and early in July, 1864, in response to a call for 100,000 hundred days' men, the Sixth Regiment was recruited for a third time, the Lowell companies this time being C, D and G, and they are still in service when this work goes to press.

July 18th, 1864, another call was issued for 500,000 men for one, two or three years' service, 635 being required from Lowell, each ward being assigned its proportion according to its number of enrolled men, and to be credited for navy men enlisted previous to February 24th, 1864. It was found that Lowell had 349 of the latter class, enlisted for different terms of service. A commission appointed to determine the naval credits of the different cities and towns in Massachusetts had not made its official report respecting the credits of Lowell at the date of writing this (September 13th), but it may be possible to announce the number in another place in these pages. About 350 of the 635 men had been raised as volunteers at the date mentioned, and it is believed that with the naval credits and efforts still being made, no draft from the citizens of Lowell under the call of July 18th will be required.

It is not yet the time to do full justice to the action of Lowell, or pay the tribute due to the many patriotic responses of her citizens. It can be said that so far Lowell has met all the requirements and done more than she has been credited for. The city authorities have been active in their duties and generous in voting bounties when the exigencies of the case seemed to require them, and in their efforts they have always been nobly aided by citizens, who have freely given their time and means to sustain the credit of the city and fill its quotas.

In the brief space to which he must limit himself, the compiler cannot refer to individual cases of generosity, but it may not be out of place to say that the women of Lowell originated the first Sanitary Fair in the country, which was held here February 24th, 25th and 26th, 1863, an example so successfully followed by other and larger cities. When any call has been made for hospital supplies, the women of Lowell have not been appealed to in vain.

A few weeks after the commencement of the war, the Legislature of Massachusetts was called together in special session, and among its first acts was the passage of a law to pay each person, not exceeding three, dependent upon the volunteer for support, the sum of one dollar per week while the volunteer remained in service, and the money known as "State Aid" has regularly been disbursed in Lowell since the passage of the act, at stated intervals, the payments now being made on the first Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each month. During 1863, the sum paid out for this purpose to the families of Lowell volunteers amounted to $102,108.40, which is to be re-imbursed by the State, besides $2418.17 paid out of appropriations made by the City Council, the principal portion of the latter sum being for the transportation of the bodies of, and funeral of soldiers, and other incidental expenses.

In the way of bounties, the United States Government has paid $300; the State $325, and the city $125 in gold (equal to $300 or $325 in currency, according to the varying price of gold), for three years' men raised under the call of July 18th, 1864, while the sum paid to two and one year's men has been about in proportion to their term of service. In the summer of 1862, the city paid a bounty of $110 for three years' men, and $50 for nine months' men.

A recital of the heroic actions, the sacrifices and endurances of Lowell men in the field or on the sea, cannot be given here; that history remains to be written when the proper time arrives, and the Lowell men still in service shall return, a part of that great army of victors, to the peaceful pursuits of civil life. Official records show that Lowell citizens have borne a part in nearly every important battle on land or conflict on the sea from the 19th of April, 1861, to the last engagement recorded by the public press. While the victory has sometimes been decided by Lowell arms, no field has been lost by the remissness of Lowell troops. They have been among the bravest of the brave, and in numerous instances justice has been done them in official reports and communications. The publisher will digress a moment from his local record, to say that the signs of the day are hopeful; that there are reasons to believe that a few more well-directed blows, like those recently given, will so far cripple the rebellion that its final extinction will be an easy task, and the revolted States return to that allegiance which they have attempted to repudiate.

On the following pages, under different classifications, according to their period of service, are given the names of all persons, in alphabetical order, known to have enlisted from or for Lowell, either in the army or navy. The compiler has had access to official records at the Mayor's office, and from other sources has obtained such information that it is believed the record is quite correct. The name of the same person is undoubtedly repeated in some cases, where he has enlisted more than once; but in cases where it could be verified, the repetition has been avoided. The official position (if any above private), where known, is given. In the case of a number of those recently enlisted, it is not known what organization they have joined.

Trusting that the Roll of Honor will be found acceptable to the patrons of the Directory, the publisher submits it to the inspection of his fellow-citizens.

EXPLANATION. Where a man has re-enlisted in the same organization, his name is marked with a star (*). A dagger (†) signifies that the man has lost his life in service. A double dagger (‡) signifies that he died after leaving the service. A figure before a name is for the number of the ward for which he enlisted under the call of July 18th, 1864. Where a man belongs to a Massachusetts regiment, or other organization, the name of the State is not mentioned. H. A. is for Heavy Artillery, and V. R. C. for Veteran Reserve Corps. The other abbreviations, it is believed, will be understood.

Under the first three classes, where the person was a member of the Sixth Regiment, the figure denoting the number of the regiment is omitted.

EDDY'S PATENT SELF-FEEDING STALLS, —FOR—

HORSES AND CATTLE.

By means of the above-named invention, the following results are secured:—1. A Horse may be fed without soiling his mane or foretop with hay seed or oat notes.... 2. He can receive his hay no faster than it is taken away and eaten.... 3. He cannot waste a particle of food.... 4. The Stall is abundantly ventilated.... 5. The cost of construction is less than any other stall.... 6. It is a Crib of very great durability.... 7. The value of an individual Right may be saved annually in the feeding of a single Horse.... 8. A Horse fed in this Crib is in no danger of becoming a cribber.

With the advantages which this improvement presents, there is no longer an excuse for a wasteful and slovenly method of feeding horses and cattle. Greater simplicity, greater economy, greater neatness, can hardly be conceived than are realized by this invention. The individual who keeps a single horse cannot afford to do without it. The above Rights and Collars are for sale by

This Establishment, which was commenced in June, 1846, is one of the very largest and best in Massachusetts, for the rapid, perfect and economical execution of JOB PRINTING, in its various branches. Its facilities are inferior to no other first-class Office in New England.

Manufacturers, Merchants, Mechanics, Insurance Companies, Banks, Lawyers—in fact all persons requiring Printing done neatly and promptly, on terms as low as any man can live and pay his honest debts—are invited to call and examine the numerous specimens (both plain and fancy) of the work of this Office, which the proprietor will take pleasure in showing them.

 Sole Agent, for Lowell and vicinity, for the sale of DENNISON'S CELEBRATED MERCHANDISE TAGS, which will be furnished at the Manufacturer's prices.

 Also, for sale, "ACCOUNTANT'S ASSISTANT IN MAKING UP PAY ROLLS"—the valuable Tables, in Chart form. The calculations extend to six weeks, and cover two smallest fractional parts of a day ( $\frac{1}{4}$ ,  $\frac{1}{2}$ ,  $\frac{3}{4}$ ). One of the Tables is for shillings and pence, extending from 2 to 12 shillings. The other for cents, extending from 25 to 78 cents. These tables, which have been for several years used in our Mills, were prepared in the most careful manner, and are pronounced by skillful Accountants to be thoroughly reliable. The price is lower than any other work of equal value in the market.

MAYNARD & NOYES' WRITING INK.

Testimony of Parties who have used it for more than a Quarter of a Century.

REGISTRY OF DEEDS OFFICE, Boston, Jan. 10, 1859.

Messrs. MAYNARD & NOYES: Gentlemen,—I am glad that longer use of your Writing Ink enables me to repeat the testimony given in its favor many years ago. I have used it in this office thirty-seven years, and my oldest records are as legible and black as when first written. This rare quality for permanence renders it invaluable for State and County Records, and all mercantile purposes where it is important that the writing should remain legible and unchanged in color by the lapse of time. HENRY ALLINE, Register of Deeds.

MAYNARD & NOYES' COPYING INK.

This Ink yields a copy as distinct and perfect as the original. It also combines all the properties of our Writing Ink, for which it can be substituted.

MAYNARD & NOYES' CARMINE INK.

This article is a beautiful red or crimson color, and surpassingly brilliant and rich. It is free from sediment, and will not mould, fade or turn dark by exposure to the air.

Elliott's Patent Spring Bed.

THIS IS THE BEST, CHEAPEST AND MOST DURABLE BED IN USE, AND FOR COMFORT THERE IS NOTHING OF THE KIND EVER INVENTED THAT CAN BEGIN TO EQUAL IT.

The following are a few of the many advantages which it possesses:—The slats extending the whole length of the Bedstead, give the bed when made up a square and even appearance. The two outside slats are stronger than the inner ones, being supported by all the springs, and give a feeling of security when lying near the edge, and supports the weight when getting into it. There is no solid frame work above the beams on which the springs rest to interfere with its comfort. It yields laterally as well as perpendicularly. It can be packed for transportation in an exceedingly small space. It has no harbor for vermin. Its comfort, economy and durability will render it indispensable to all classes; and it possesses many other advantages over the bed bottoms heretofore introduced, besides those mentioned above, which will readily appear to persons examining it.

I have sold hundreds of these beds in Lowell within the last two years, and every one who has used them give them their unqualified approval.
